World Service and New Endeavors

From the Archangelic Realm of Michael This is Michael and We welcome you at this wonderful and most glorious time as you now move into the depth and breadth of the integrity and impeccability of the word. Each and every one of you is now professing your truth. Being in the depth and breadth of your heart and seeing that truth, feeling that truth and honoring and valuing it within you. And this is an individual aspect within each of you. You are now ready with your new endeavor to profess your truth and bring the depth of it out into the world. This is what resonates within the depth and breadth of your heart now.

Many of you are creating new endeavors that are geared toward world service. And you are now realizing the impetus of “the we” -world service- and being in the we and it being the most important part of your new endeavor. It is important to understand that these endeavors have nothing to do with you because they are not about you. They are about your talents and gifts and lending them to the new endeavor that simply expresses your truth. It is now important to see that the aspects of your narcissistic me remain in your personal process and not be part of “the we” so you can fully live with a greater sense of knowing who you are, why you are here in order to give of your talents and gifts. Doing this will allow you to fully live in the moment with “What Is” and let go of projecting outside of yourself what others may deem your truth to be. So you can release the opinion others may have of your truth and your word if in fact it is impeccable. As you release this you now can fully know that as you embody who you are, your talents and gifts, your truth and your word you can with the impeccability of this give it to the world. You can now fully give of yourself to the world and then open your heart to receive what is coming to you.

When you begin to fully receive love you will then realize why you have chosen World Service. And then come to see where World Service will take on a new meaning, value and purpose and see it expand in the depth and breadth of your heart.

Are you continuing the process of growing within so you can fully realize who you truly are to gain a greater sense of self? So you then can live in the moment without looking outside of you for the gratification and validation for your sense of self. Are you are processing those parts of your narcissistic me –your wounds- that still need to be healed? This is all important in relation to your new endeavor because you would not have been able to come to a place of giving your truth through this new vehicle, this endeavor without understanding and embodying and moving through this process.

So We ask you:

Does your new endeavor work for you?

Have you learned from what you have included in your endeavor?

Have you grown from it?

Have you embodied it and continue to embody what you are giving to the world?

You are now ready to express your truth to the world with the impeccability and integrity of your word. So are you embodying what you are giving, when you are speaking, telling and teaching it?

The only way in which those coming to you on the pathway of the new as you come to them with your new endeavor will receive what you are giving them is if you are receiving it yourself first.

The most important aspect here is what resonates for you and to be the message. It is all based upon what you have learned and how you have learned it and what is important for you. Those who will be coming to you will be resonating and vibrating as you are if not close to it. Therefore, you will be a mirror for them as they will be a mirror for you. So We ask you, why is it important to give your endeavor to the world? The answer to this lies within you not outside of you. What you are giving to the world are the teachings, exercises, lessons, messages that you have learned from. These teachings have guided you to the depth and breadth of your heart and allowed you to be who you are. And allowed you to understand, value and honor and remember and reconnect with your talents and gifts that have in turn allowed you to find your purpose. What you are giving through your new endeavor are the messages, lessons, exercises and teachings that have guided and supported, taught you and allowed you to grow. And what you are giving comes from the depth and breadth of your heart and has allowed you to learn and grow.

So you are now ready to fully express your truth from the depth and breadth of your heart with your new endeavors. These endeavors are based upon the resonance and vibration within you that matches the resonance of the teachings, messages and energies that have supported and guided you along your pathway into ascension within. Are you now ready to fully express your truth to those outside of you with your endeavor and with the impeccability and integrity of the beingness and embodiment of your word?
