Illuminating the Shadow Within

From the Archangelic Realm of Michael this is Michael and We welcome you as you are opening up to new parameters in your life, moving through new doorways in your life and moving from the old into the new. Moving from the shadow into the light.

What is transpiring for many is your wounding, your shadow, all that has been holding you in inertia has been moving to the light. For many, their wounding has been moving into the light so you could see what the wounding is, experience it, experience the trauma and having it illuminated in the light so you can transcend it and transition into the newness of you. A full and deeper sense of being of who you are.

In many ways as you move into your month of June and open the new doorways that are being presented to you in the world outside of you what is transpiring is you are moving from the shadow to the light. The shadow is being illuminated by the light, In order to transcend and transition from your wounding it is most important that the shadow the wounding, the darkness is illuminated in your consciousness. When you move into the illumination of the wounding in your consciousness and shed light upon that wounding to a deeper sense of your consciousness and opens yourself up to transcend from that wounding, What ever transpires within that wounding, you allow it to transpire and begin to experience it. Each and every one of you as you move into your month of June to will begin to experience this.

Allowing the wounding, the shadow, the dense low vibrational aspects of that wounding to be illuminated by the light so you can now see it. Many have moved through this process and bit by bit the wounding has come to the fore, now many are fully seeing the wounding for what it is and allowing yourself to be in the illumination of that wounding as the adult. So you can see the wounding, experience it, experience the trauma and begin to move through it at your own pace. It is not as if the wounding appears in the light, appears in your consciousness and the soul aspects of your consciousness then disappears. It moves into your consciousness and is illuminated by the light so you can then move through the process of transcending that wounding. Whatever that process is for you and how long it takes for you.

The most important aspect of this is now the wounding and the shadow aspects of yourself, the wounding of the inner and child and the many wounded inner children are now moving to the light as you head into a new solstice on your third dimensional plain.

What is transpiring now is the light is beginning to illuminate the shadows and the darkness within you. As it is as well in your third dimensional realm.

As you move into your month of June what is transpiring is a new planetary configuration. Planets aligning into the light with their electromagnetic energy raising the resonance and vibration of your earthly plain. What is transpiring now is transparency and authenticity moving within your systems and within you as well. It is about being transparent and authentic within the depth and breadth of your heart space. Moving to the full beingness of who you are. Here I am, this is who I am. I no longer walk about the earthly plain with my mask in place. I now honor, value and love who I am. I am transparent and authentic and I love who I am in the full beingness of me.

What is transpiring in your third dimensional realm is the shadow is being revealed in the consciousness of your society. In the consciousness of the soul in your society. As you move into your month of June as these planets configure to raise the electromagnetic energy of your earthly plain, it is raising the resonance and vibration and moving the aspects of the wounding of the planet and what is transpiring in the third dimensional realm to the fore. Thus the light is beginning to illuminate the shadow. It is up to each and every one of you on your earthly plain whether you want to see that shadow or not.

In many ways, as the shadow on your earthly plain and your third dimensional realm rises it will reveal a mirror inside of you to see that your shadow is rising as well. It is up to you if you would like to see it.

Everything that transpires outside of you based upon where you are in your personal process, in your evolutionary process on this earthly plain is simply a mirror for that transpiring inside of you. It is now up to you if you want to see it. This is what We mean by your shadow. The wounding is moving to the fore based upon the electromagnetic energy of these planets that are aligning for your benefit, for your growth periods. As the shadow and the wounding rises within you and the light illuminates it, it is your choice as the adult if you want to see it or not. Then move into the depth and breadth of the feelings of it. Quite possibly the trauma of it and to experience that so you can release it, transcend it and transition into the greatness of the beingness of who you are.

You are moving through a momentary aspect on your earthly plain of great significance. The significance of these planets aligning is to raise the electromagnetic aspects of your third dimensional realm of your earthly plain to raise the resonance and vibration of your earthly plain as it is doing within each and every one of you individually. Many are beginning to feel these energies moving in and beginning to trigger aspects of yourself. Many are feeling the deep energetic movement that begins in your first chakra that allows a spiraling effect as the energy moves up into your consciousness, into your soul space, your heart space and begins to reveal the depth and breadth of your wounding. As it moves within you, you will begin to see the mirror of it outside of you. Many are beginning to feel the mirror outside of them. Not only see it but feel it. That mirror is love, community, harmony, equality, and acceptance. As each and every one of you move through your process and move into a deeper sense of love, peace, community, harmony, acceptance and equality within you, you are now beginning to see that reflected back to you as each and every one of you begin to open your heart space to begin to receive this love.

The question We have for you is, are you beginning to receive love from outside of you? Are you beginning to see those who honor, value and love you and opening your heart space to receive it? As you begin to see this, it may also be triggering the depth of your wounding that held that at bay so you could be safe and secure. Many have a challenge of trusting that love. Trusting what is transpiring that is raising your resonance and vibration. Thus, you may move back into old patterns, habits, rituals and behaviors that you are familiar with. I am familiar with negativity, drama. Then you begin to create the negativity and the drama because that is what you know.

What is new for each and every one of you is love, peace, community, harmony and equality and receiving that love and knowing that it is no longer about needing to stimulate your nervous system in order to feel alive with negativity and drama perhaps.

It is about moving into the depth and breadth of your heart space where love abounds. And moving into that place and the place of fulfillment. It is not about seeking happiness or joyfulness outside of you for that is simply a momentary state of being. What you are seeking is fulfillment. It is a radiatory force of fulfillment within your heart space that is a consistently raising of your resonance and vibration. This is what is transpiring for many. They are feeling their resonance and vibration raise into the sense of fulfillment of the beingness of Who I Am. Thus opening their heart space to begin the process to receive love.

Now you look outside of you and quite possibly see the mirror of the most wonderful and glorious souls who in honesty, transparency and authenticity with no conditions, love you. Are you ready to open your heart space to receive that love and know that is consistent and always has been consistent in your life.

We ask each and every one of you to look at those wonderful and glorious souls who have been consistent in your life showing you, giving you, honoring and valuing you with love. It has always been there. It is simply you who has held it at bay based upon the need to isolate and separate yourself from it because you do not trust the consistency of it through your conditioning and programming.

This is what is transpiring as you move into your month of June and move through your month. As these planets configure into specific configurations throughout your earthly plain in June to begin to illuminate the shadow within you and illuminate the shadow of your third dimensional realm.
