

Archangel Michael Speaks

Channeled by Jeff Fasano

A Message for July 2023

A Time for Celebration

From the Archangelic Realm of Michael this is Michael and We welcome you as you are opening up to new parameters in life, opening your heart space to the fullness of life and opening to the grandness and greatness of self as you are now moving into your month of July. You are opening up to new ways of living life, new ways of looking at life. As opposed to looking at life from the glass is half empty and now looking at life as the glass is full or what is in your life.

We have come to you many times to look at life as what is in your life. As you move into your month of July it is now about looking at what is in your life, what you are grateful for as to what has transpired in your life. Most importantly to look at what you are grateful for about you. What you have done on your pathway, what has transpired on your pathway in your life as you move to a depth of your personal process that you quite possibly never thought you could move to before. It is about opening up your heart space to you in your month of July. As a matter of fact looking into the mirror and celebrating you.

As you move into the month of July it is now a celebration, a celebration of you. In many ways the celebration of the independence of you as the adult where you are no longer walking through life with the wounded child running your life. You are moving into a greater depth of self discernment, discerning between the wounded child and the adult. Now opening up to the grandness of yourself as you move into the month of July and begin a month of celebration. Celebrating you and your pathway. Celebrating those in your life you have relationships with, the healthy relationships where there is a balance of giving and receiving. It's open, honest and transparent.

The question We have for you is, how transparent and authentic are you being within the depth and breadth of yourself? Not only with those outside of you but with yourself? How honest are you with yourself where you are on your pathway? It is time to take a look at this as you move into the second half of your year of 2023 and opening up the second half as a new year in many ways. You have moved through your first half of your year in deep introspection and now moving into self compassion for where you are in your process.

It is most important to know what self compassion is. Loving, honoring and valuing you is something We have spoken to you many times before. It is about self compassion. Having compassion for where you are in your process. Is judgement and shame still popping up where you are in your process? As if to say, I should know this by now, I should be past this, I shouldn't be doing this by now. Even though I have been doing this work for many years and studying with the masters of this, yet here I am in my process on this earthly plain. This is the key. You have chosen to incarnate in the human form to continue the process in your soul plan. The evolutionary process you are moving through on this earthly plain is designed so you can heal what you need to heal in this lifetime. You are continually on that healing journey until the day that this aspect, this fragment of your soul plan is ended and you transition to what you will be transitioning to in that aspect of your soul plan.

In many ways it is a continuous process of moving within in a personal process that is geared toward loving, honoring and valuing who you are in this lifetime.

Now as you move into your month of July you can begin to celebrate where you have come from to where you are now in that process and doing it with self compassion. Self compassion for where you are in your process. Which is accepting what is in your life. It is not so much about looking outside of yourself in the physical third dimensional realm and looking at what is in your life there, it is about accepting where you are in your process in the inner journey and where you are within that. This is what is in your life and transpiring in your life. This is where I am in my process. I am celebrating the fact that I have undertaken this journey of moving within in the process. This is where I am. As I look back at where I began this process to where I am now and how deeply I have moved within that process, can I celebrate the fact that I am continually in that process?

It is now a self celebration as you move into the month of July to see where you have come in that process and having the courage to move within and look at yourself. Look in the mirror consistently at yourself. Letting go of shame and judgment of self even though that may still exist in many, a deeper sense of shame and judgment. Shaming aspects of yourself that you never thought you shamed before. This is coming to the fore many. Judgment of self, judging aspects you in your life that you never thought you judged before. Begin to celebrate these revelations on your pathway, the openings, the growth periods. Look at where you have grown as you have moved to a place of independence from the need for validation and gratification from others outside of you. Where you are now a self sustainable soul on the earthly plain continuing a process of growing and opening your heart space to love and receiving love. Allowing yourself to feel your feelings. How deeply do you feel your feelings? How deeply do you allow your feelings or are you still suppressing and repressing them or avoiding the feelings that are surfacing? How deeply have you moved in your process in life?

It is now time to celebrate all of this and ask the questions, how deeply do I love, honor and value myself now and can I celebrate where I am now? Or, are you thinking you should be light years ahead. I should have gotten thus by now. I should have known this by now. I should have experienced this by now. You are experiencing what you are experiencing exactly what you are supposed to in this time/space continuum in the moment of now. Based upon your soul plan.

As We have said to you many times before, if you can look at your life as it transpires is based in your soul plan you will begin to open yourself to self love by accepting with compassion where you are. We have said this many times before, can you accept with compassion exactly where you are. If you can do that you are being with what is in your life.

Once again, it is not so much about what is in your life in the surroundings of your third dimensional realm right now as you move through your month of July, it is about what is in your personal process. Ask yourself where am I? Can I accept with compassion where I am in my personal process? Can I allow the process as it unfolds as it will unfold in your soul's divine plan?

Your month of July is a celebration, a celebration of your independence. A celebration of where you are and how far you have come when you began this process in the process you call life.