

Archangel Michael Speaks

Channeled by Jeff Fasano

A Message for November 2023

Being Transparent with Who You Are

From the Archangelic Realm of Michael this is Michael and We come to you as you are moving into new parameters in your life and opening up to your grandness and greatness as you are now looking at life. What is life to you? How are you living your life? How are you living your life in fulfilment? What are you grateful for in your life right now? What is in your life right now? Are you looking at your life as a full set of beings right now? Meaning your relationships are fulfilling yourself. As We said to you in your month of October as you now move into your month of November moving towards the end of your year of 2023, looking at your relationships and where there is a balance of giving and receiving in them.

When looking at the relationships in your life, it is about the balance of giving and receiving. If there is a balance of giving and receiving in relationships then you are having fulfilling relationships in your life.

The question We have for you is how are you living your life? Are you living life? Or are you just moving through each day trodding through life, enduring life, suffering through life? It is now about moving into an all-encompassing aspect of this new life. We have said to you in the last few months that you were moving through a transition period in the month of August into the month of September and thus moving into the new life. The new life of the beingness of you and opening up to the grandness and greatness of self. Shining the effervescent white light in the depth and breadth of your soul space onto the world. Being who you are.

As you are now moving to the end of your year of 2023 are you now being who you are? Are you now allowing yourself to be who you are? And in the beingness of self as you move through each moment of your life, each interaction with another wonderful and most glorious soul, are you allowing you to be who you are? And know that you are loved for who you are.

How are you expressing yourselves? Are you expressing yourself with love to one another? Are you opening up your heart space as wide as you can and inviting others to join you in your life?

It is not so much about doing in life. We have said this to you many times before. Moving from doing to being. What are you still doing in your life? Where do you find the need to constantly do to quite possibly distract yourself from life? From being who you are? Thinking that the more you do, the more you prove to others how worthy you are of their love. What am I doing for you? This is what I am doing in the world, can you see that I am worthwhile because I am doing all these things? It is now about moving through your life being who you are and doing with purpose.

As you move into your month of November as yourself, what am I doing in my life that has a greater purpose based upon who I am being? Are you opening your heart space to others and allowing them to penetrate that mask, that armor? Is your mask breaking up? Or are you still walking about the earthly plain with your mask in place? See where that mask is breaking apart. Your month of November is also seeing how transparent and authentic you are being in your life. Are you still covering up with the mask or the veil that which you shame and judge about yourself? Where are you still shaming parts of yourself? Where are you still judging yourself in life? What are you shaming?

As you move into your month of November, it is a month of being fully transparent with who you are in your authenticity of the beingness of you. When you are being who you are you are being authentic. And as you are being who you are, in the full beingness of that and all the parameters of the beingness of who you are, then you are transparent with life. This is who I am. These are my wounds. These are my gifts, talents and abilities. This is my trauma. This is all of me.

As We have said to you, you are a multi-dimensional individual. You are a multi-dimensional individuated soul inhabiting the earthly plain as you move through this aspect of your soul plan. You are multi-dimensional. You have your talents and gifts and you use those to express who you are to the world. You have your trauma, you have your wounds. You have your greatness, your wonderfulness and you still have your wounds, your trauma. Are you fully transparent with all of that to the world? This is who I am. These are parts of me. My wounding is a part of me. My defense of my wounding is a part of me? The trauma that surfaces from time to time based upon past conditioning from mom and dad and past lives is still present within me. But I have garnered tools to allow myself to move through that but I am no longer shaming or judging it.

This is the challenge for many. Are you still challenged where your trauma and wounding is concerned? Are you still challenged by celebrating the wonderfulness of self? It all goes hand in hand. These are simply aspects of yourself. You are a multi-versatile individuated souls inhabiting the human form in this life you have chosen to incarnate in on your earthly plain.

Are you now living life. Are you now opening up your heart space to life? Or do you run and hide in shame and judgment of yourself and those aspects of yourself that you cannot accept in yourself?

Your month of November is a month of acceptance. Can you accept everything about you? Your trauma, your wounding, your defense, your greatness, your wonderfulness, your talents, gifts and abilities? And also accept that you have been working on a wonderful aspect of life called your personal process. Look at from where you have come when you began your personal process to where you are now. You have opened your heart space. Open it more fully in full transparency and authenticity. Look to see where you still shame and judge those aspects of yourself that were shamed and judged when you were 5, 6, 10 and 15 years old that left an imprint within you.

These teachings and many teachings have come to you to give you tools to move through all of this and heal it. How much of your wounding have you healed of the defense and the trauma? Are you still shaming the judgment of self? Can you open up to the grandness and gloriousness of self and begin to accept all aspects of you? And as you accept all aspects of you, you will begin to accept all aspects of others.